Falanghina is a varietal that pretty much perfectly splits the difference between Sauvignon Blanc and Chardonnay. Ciro Picariello is a producer we've worked with for several years and their wines constantly amaze us as they are both complex and approachable.

COLLEVALA 2020 LACRIMA DI MORRO D'ALBA, MARCHE

Produced from a varietal that almost went extinct in the 1980's, this wine is exceedingly rare. Thanks to producers like Collevala, this aromatic red is still being made.

PUNTA CRENA 2018 "CRUVIN" COLLINE SAVONESI, LIGURIA

The tiny village of Varigotti sits on the Ligurian coast just miles from the beach. The Ruffino family has been tending these vineyards for over 500 years, hardly changing a thing as they pass their knowledge and wisdom from one generation to the next. This bottling is made from 100% Crovino, a varietal that is unique not only to the town but also the producer.

G.D. VAJRA 2016 "KYE," FREISA, LANGHE, PIEDMONT

Freisa is a varietal that is exceptionally rare and tastes approximately like a cross between Pinot Noir and Nebbiolo. G.D. Vajra is one of our favorite producers from this region and is composed of a small team alongside the family of winemakers.

Several years ago, we had the pleasure of hosting the daughter of the Vajra family, Francesca, for one of our pop up events. Her magnetism and passion is something that has always stuck with us. Whenever we have the opportunity to bring one of her and her family's wines to our store we are very excited. This particular bottling is something doubly special due to its scarcity and it being incredibly delicious.
